SEPTEMBER. VII Month.

One glorious Scene of Action ſtill behind,
The Fair that likes it is ſecure to find;
Cordials and Med'cines gratis to diſpenſe,
A beauteous Inſtrument of Providence;
Plaiſters, and Salves, and Sores, to underſtand,
The Surgeon's Art befits a tender Hand:
To friendleſs Pain unhop'd-for Eaſe to give,
And bid the Hungry eat, and Sickly live.

On the firſt of this month, Anno, 1733, Staniſlaus, originally a private gentleman of Poland, was choſen the ſecond time king of that nation. The power of Charles XII. of Sweden, cauſed his firſt election, that of Louis XV. of France, his ſecond. But neither of them could keep him on the throne; for PROVIDENCE, often oppoſite to the wills of princes, reduc'd him to the condition of a private gentleman again.

On the 2d of this month, Anno 1666, began the fire of London, which reduc'd to aſhes 13,200 houſes and 89 churches: Near ten times as much building as Philadelphia!

The great ART of ſucceeding in CONVERSATION (ſaith Monſ. St. Evremond) is, To admire little, to hear much, always to diſtruſt our own reaſon, and ſometimes that of our friends; never to pretend to wit; but to make that of others appear as much as poſſibly we can; to hearken to what is ſaid, and to anſwer to the purpoſe.

Ut jam nunc dicat jam nunc debentia dici.

Obſerve, the precept is hear much, not ſpeak much. Herbert, the poet, ſays,

---------a well-bred gueſt,
Will no more talk all than eat all the feaſt.

And, When you do ſpeak, ſays another, ſpeak to the purpoſe; Or elſe to what purpoſe do you ſpeak? Obſerve the preſent diſpoſition of the company; and

Let what you ſay the converſe ſuit,
Not ſay things merely 'cauſe they're good.
For if you thus intrude your ſenſe,
It then becomes impertinence:
Your ſalt is good, we may agree,
But pray don't ſalt our Punch and Tea.
